WHAT IS AN AREPA? (AH-RE-PAH)

An arepa is the quintessential Venezuelan food, Is what our hearts are made of. Our earliest memories are filled with their crunchiness and warmth.

Arepas are a form of bread made up of ground maize, or “corn dough”. Since Pre-Columbian times, they've been eaten among the Northern region of South America.

The Arepas are a staple to Colombian and Venezuelan cuisine but are also common within Bolivia and El Salvador.

This corn bread is 100% gluten free, so they will make your tummy happy and your heart full.
