

THE STORY BEHIND THE NAME ...

As the story goes, cattle were introduced to Australia with only 6 head of Black Cape: two bulls and four cows. Subsequently, steak was regarded as a rare pleasure. Almost unattainable, it was the finest dining choice of Governors and Captains, scarce and limited; richly palatable.

Upon Australian arrival, a convict was given instruction to pay close attention to the cattle – as these 6 head were the only living cattle in Australia. The convict returned from lunch one day finding the 6 head were missing.

Eight years later, over 100 head of cattle had been found inland beyond the Nepean, direct descendants of the original 6 head. Remarkably, they had prospered without human intervention, prompting hope in the newly appointed Governor Hunter.

It's believed that very evening, Hunter and his party found a stray from the herd, selecting steak as his finest dinner choice.

Word spread beyond the colony that Australia would be the great cattle country after all, a tale too true nowadays.

6HEAD wishes to deliver you the rarest of pleasures Australia has to offer.
