

Sonnet 43

BREW HOUSE

Sonnet 43 Brew House is our craft micro-brewery based just up the road in Coxhoe, County Durham. The village is the birthplace of 19th Century poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning from whose best known work, we derived both our name and brewing ethos. We took the love she described in Sonnet 43, which features the well-known line 'How do I love thee? Let me count the ways', and interpreted our way - craft beer. Every drop is crafted with care and attention to ensure the best flavour.
