TAILORED

Enhanced by 24 months in first fill Oloroso, it's leathery, farmy, tarry, with notes of damp woods and a certain darkness. At first sip, it's unmistakably Islay: rugged, with a firm maltiness and intense notes of bonfires, chimney smoke and, again, tar. Licorice root, dark coffee without sugar, markedly toasted with just a hint of raisins. The interaction with the sherry casks did not bring out an explicit fruity trait, but it made the balsamic and smoky notes even deeper. Long, persistent, extremely wintery and peated in the finale.
