

LOUNGE BAR
KOOKOO
TEPPANYAKI

Australia Lobster!

Add On (Half):

Lobster (Small): $78

Lobster (Large): $108

Lobsters are ectothermic animals, which means their body temperature is regulated by their environment. They are most active in warmer water temperatures and become sluggish in colder waters.

Lobsters can have symbiotic relationships with other species. For example, the horseshoe crab sometimes attaches its eggs to lobsters, gaining protection from potential predators.